Teaching learning Feedback

In this particular category of feedback, Department of History has performed well for the last 5 academic years. In the April 2022 session students have appreciated the teaching of Dr. Santosh Ghuge as excellent and appreciated the other faculty member Chhandas Naikwade for caring about students and making the subject easy to understand. However a student has raised concerns about the personality of one teacher, Chhandas Naikwade. He was observed to be biased about one particular student by them. Some students also felt that Chhandas Naikwade needs to manage the time better. The concerned teacher has agreed to improve his work ethics and time management and promised to maintain professionalism in his conduct.

In the odd semester feedback for 2021-22 session students have observed Dr. Santosh Ghuge's teaching style as effective. His friendly approach, energetic nature is well appreciated by the students. Students have also appreciated Chhandas Naikwade's Teaching style and making his subject interesting. Students have also expressed that there should be more guidance for the competitive exams is needed. Some of them have not liked when they have asked to use the internet as an ICT tool in the classroom by Chhandas Naikwade. They also think that Chhandas Naikwade should work on his knowledge base. Dr Santosh Ghuge has conveyed these concerns to him and he has responded positively to the same.

Curriculum Feedback

The scores of History department in the Alumni Feedback on curriculum are above 4 pointers in all categories. Lower scores were received on the question whether curriculum enhanced their professional skills. The department with the help of career development cell of Fergusson College is working to recognise the skill set in the History major students so that they can be made employable. Students have suggested revising the TYBA syllabus, which will be taken under consideration in the next BOS meeting.
